Welcome to the Summer School

A warm welcome to our ninth Annual Oxford Animal Ethics Summer School

This year, we are exploring the work of Animal Thinkers, asking the questions: What can we learn from those who have pioneered animal protection? How can a critical engagement with their thought help further our own work for animals?

We are delighted to have speakers from all over the world representing a wide array of disciplines, including historians, philosophers, social scientists, psychologists, theologians, lawyers, and literature scholars. We hope the discussion over the next few days will help inspire us to think deeply about how we create change for animals.

We would like to thank our sponsors: Susan and Dan Boggio, Kimberly Moore, the Kirkpatrick Foundation, and Unbridled Sanctuary. We are truly grateful to our wonderful sponsors who make this Summer School possible.

I look forward to personally welcoming you to our Summer School.

About the Oxford Centre for Animal Ethics

The Oxford Centre for Animal Ethics (www.oxfordanimaethics.com) is the premier centre for animal ethics worldwide. Our Centre breaks new ground for the animals by pioneering ethical perspectives on animals through academic research, teaching, and publication. We want to put ethical concern for animals on the intellectual agenda, and contribute to an enlightened public debate about animals. We believe that the rational case for animals is frequently understated within academia and misrepresented in the media.

The heart of the work of the Centre is our international Fellowship of over 140 academics drawn from the humanities and the sciences. The Fellows are working in all fields of academic scholarship to advance perspectives on animal ethics. Many of them are speaking at the Summer School this year.

The Centre publishes the Journal of Animal Ethics in partnership with the University of Illinois Press, and has established a book series on animal ethics with Palgrave Macmillan comprising more than forty books.

The Palgrave Macmillan books, and many more, are on sale in the Summer School Office.

About Merton College, University of Oxford

Merton College, the first fully self-governing College in the University, was founded in 1264 by Walter de Merton, sometime Chancellor of England and later Bishop of Rochester. Mob Quadrangle, the oldest quadrangle in the University, was built in three phases: the Treasury c.1288-91; the north and east ranges and the Sacristy c.1304-11, and the Library on the south and west sides 1373-8. Mob Library is the oldest continuously-functioning library for university academics and students in the world. The Gatehouse dates from the early fifteenth century, when Henry V granted a royal 'licence to crenellate', which allowed for the construction of the battlement tower above the present-day Lodge.

What is now the quire of Merton Chapel was begun in the late 1280s, as part of the Church of St Mary & St John. It was built to replace the Parish Church of St John the Baptist which stood on the site now occupied by the north wing of Mob Quad. The transepts (what is now the ante-chapel) were added in the 14th and early 15th centuries, and the tower was completed in 1450. To this day, the Chapel contains one of the finest pre-Reformation lecterns surviving in England, originally given to the College in 1504. A screen by Christopher Wren was added in 1673. Edward Blore, William Butterfield, and Sir Gilbert Scott contributed to its restoration during the Gothic revival of the 19th century.

Merton College was originally founded for 20 fellows, with undergraduates being formally admitted in the early 1380s. It was then that John Wyliot, a former Fellow and Sub-Warden, endowed a number of scholarships known at Merton as Postmasterships. Over the centuries, many eminent scholars and cultural leaders have called Merton home. They include four Nobel Prize winners, the mathematician who solved Fermat's Last Theorem, J R R Tolkien, the physician who discovered the circulation of blood, and the founder of the Bodleian Library.

About Susan and Dan Boggio

Susan and Dan Boggio are both strong supporters for helping the world's most vulnerable. They have chosen to advocate for many worthwhile local and international causes related to relieving the suffering and improving the quality of life for both humans and animals.

Susan is the Board Chair of UNICEF USA, Southwest Region, and they are founders of UNICEF's Dan and Susan Boggio Fund for children. Susan is a graduate of UNC-Charlotte and has done post-graduate studies in comparative religion and philosophy. She has been named a Woman of Distinction, one of Houston's Most Influential Women, Animals Champion for feeding homebound seniors and their animals, and the Heart of Gold Volunteer by Citizens for Animal Protection. Susan is a founding member of the Houston 20, dedicated to fighting child trafficking in the Houston area.

Susan and Dan together have been named a Texas Children's Hospital Champion for Children, Houston PetSet Soiree' 2018 Honorees, recipients of the Melcher Humanitarian Award, and UNICEF Helenka Pantaleoni Global Humanitarian award. Susan rescues animals and is currently fostering approximately 30 dogs.

Dan and Susan hope their passion for making the world a better place for children, animals, and others through education, protection, and providing basic life needs, here and around the world, inspires others to do the same.

Susan and Dan are Honorary Fellows of the Centre. They are also the Executive Producers of The Animal Thing film.

About Kimberly Moore

Kimberly Moore is a senior tax attorney at Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman LLP in Washington, D.C. and an expert on laws governing the treatment of animals in the United States. She is the Director of Public Relations of Fur Free Society, Inc. and has worked on state legislation to ban the sale and manufacture of fur in the United States. She has represented and advised animal welfare organizations on formation and fundraising matters, and has assisted organizations in obtaining their I.R.S. 501(c) (3) status. Kimberly is a Fellow of the Oxford Centre for Animal Ethics, and is the author of the new book, The Case for the Legal Protection of Animals, Humanity's Shared Destiny with the Animal Kingdom (Palgrave Macmillan Animal Ethics Series, 2023).

With respect to this year's Summer School, Kimberly says "I am deeply appreciative of this year's focus on pioneer thinkers, whose groundbreaking work has been crucial to paving the way for the more ethical treatment of animals."

Kimberly is presenting on "Attorney Steven Wise's Groundbreaking Litigation and Comparative Analysis in Emerging Animal Law Jurisprudence" in the T S Eliot Theatre on Tuesday.

About the Kirkpatrick Foundation

Kirkpatrick Foundation is an Oklahoma City-based philanthropic organisation focused on arts, culture, education, animal wellbeing, environmental conservation, and historical preservation. Started in 1955 by John and Eleanor Kirkpatrick, the Foundation has two initiatives: Safe & Humane, to make Oklahoma one of the safest and most humane places to be an animal by the year 2032; and ArtDesk, a free quarterly magazine focused on contemporary art, performance, and thought.

The Foundation's support of the Oxford Centre for Animal Ethics helps to strengthen our work in Oklahoma and symbolizes our shared values with animal advocates around the world.

About Unbridled Sanctuary

Unbridled Thoroughbred Foundation & Sanctuary has been serving horses with love for 20 years (2004 – 2024). Unbridled is a 501(c)3 non-profit public charity protecting Thoroughbreds from exploitation, harm, and slaughter. Unbridled is accredited by the American Sanctuary Association (ASA), Equus Foundation, and the Global Federation of Animal Sanctuaries (GFAS).

The Founder and CEO Susan Kayne is a regular at the Summer School, but cannot be here this year as Unbridled is celebrating its 20 year anniversary. She sends this note of support for the Summer School:

“The Annual Oxford Animal Ethics Summer School has profoundly expanded my understanding of the immense potential we have to honor, safeguard, and truly see our equine companions for who they are - fellow sentient beings with inherent worth, sharing this magnificent life-sustaining Earth alongside us. This transformative experience has illuminated the path forward, revealing how much more meaningfully we can recognize their rich inner lives, respect their autonomy, and ensure their wellbeing and flourishing. I am filled with renewed dedication to advocating for horses and all animals, guided by the philosophical foundations, scientific insights, and ethical frameworks gifted to us by the brilliant minds at Oxford Centre for Animal Ethics.”

Important Notices

Internet Access

Wireless internet access is available throughout the college site. All visitors are welcome to make use of “The Cloud,” an internet service which is free to use; after joining this Wi-Fi network, attempt to open any web-page then follow the instructions which appear in your web-browser to get online.

We also have a specific Wi-Fi network for the Summer School. Connect to the “Merton Events” and the password is: ethics24.

JCR

The JCR is our social space, where the afterhours will be held. Those staying at Merton will have access to the JCR with key fobs. For security reasons day delegates will not be given key fobs. Please find an ambassador or a residential guest for help.

Chapel

The chapel is currently undergoing renovations. But the Americas Room is open throughout the Summer School for quiet prayer and is located in the Front Quad by the Fitzjames Arch.

Summer School Office and Book Shop

The Summer School office and book shop is located in the Howard Stringer Room just off the T S Eliot theatre. Here you will find ambassadors to help you with any issues you may have and there is also a wonderful selection of discounted books on animal ethics.

Covid-19

If you feel unwell at any point during the Summer School, please let Clair or the Summer School Office know. Sadly, we cannot supply tests for everyone at the Summer School, so we advise delegates to travel with some spare lateral flow tests. PCR tests or Fit to Fly tests are available nearby.

If you test positive during the Summer School, please think of others, and isolate. We can arrange to have meals brought to your room.

In the unfortunate event of someone contracting Covid, they will not be able to extend their stay. They will need to check out on the agreed date as planned.

Fire Safety

In case of a fire, please assemble in the Rose Lane Garden. We have no scheduled fire drills, but the alarms may be tested during the Summer School, if they last longer than 15 seconds it is not a drill. Fire emergency details are around the rooms for you to familiarise yourself with.
